

FOODFORTHOUGHT

LATE WINTER/EARLY SPRING 2022

MEET MICHAEL

When Michael calls, you can hear the desperation in his voice. “I really hope you can help me,” he begins, “I’ve had quite a day.” Michael tells us that he and his three kids were supposed to move into a new apartment with their Section-8 housing voucher that day; however, there was a delay on necessary repairs. Because they had nowhere else to go, the State put the family in a hotel with hopes that the apartment would be ready soon. “We appreciate the room but have very little food to get through this in-between time. Especially not food we can make in a hotel room!” When we told Michael that KLF could deliver food appropriate for a mini-fridge and microwave, he sighed with relief. “That’s the best news I’ve had all day!”

MEET ISABELLA

Isabella contacted KLF for the first time. “I’m just getting over COVID,” she shares. “I’m past the five-day quarantine of the CDC, but my employer requires fourteen days. I’m out of sick time at work, and I am going to be counting pennies until my next paycheck.” She says a friend suggested she contact KLF. “I hate to ask for help, but this was very unexpected,” says Isabella. She schedules an appointment to pick-up at a pantry later that day.

MEET LILAH

When Lilah needed food assistance in the past, she requested a delivery because she no longer drives due to her eyesight. This day, however, she wants to go to a pantry. “It’s a big day. My granddaughter is going to help me with errands.” Lilah chuckles, “This is as exciting as it gets at my age!” While most pantry locations are still in a curbside pick-up model per client request, KLF’s pantry at the Douglass Community Association offers in-person shopping for those that want that opportunity. “Let’s do that,” says Lilah. She explains that she likes to check ingredient lists and pick items that are low sodium.

While the client stories featured above are true, their names and images have been changed for anonymity.

A NOTE FROM JEN

Humza Rahman, Lead Pantry Coordinator.

For this newsletter, we sat down with Lead Pantry Coordinator, Humza Rahman. Humza oversees daily operations of our Melzer Pantry, which is located adjacent to our main warehouse. He also manages our pantry inside the Douglass Community Association. Humza joined our team in November 2020 as a Program Assistant and has worked in every aspect of our program delivery.
— Jennifer Johnson, Executive Director

Q: In your role as Lead Pantry Coordinator, you oversee operations at the Douglass Pantry and the Melzer Pantry. How are these two experiences similar? How are they different?

A: It's really about client preference. The same quantity and variety of food is available at both locations; however, we re-opened the Douglass Pantry for in-person shopping in November 2021. While most clients prefer curbside pickup, there are some who really enjoy selecting their own items.

Q: What are some of the challenges facing the KLF pantry system?

A: Keeping up with demand. Our service numbers have doubled since the summer. At Melzer, we schedule up to 20 households every half hour all day long. Keeping up with that pace while customizing orders to family size and special dietary needs can be a challenge.

Q: What items are requested most by clients?

A: We serve a lot of families with special dietary and cultural needs, such as gluten-free or Halal only. And sweets and snacks — especially families with kids! Personal care items are also a frequent request. We don't purchase personal items; we get them through donations.

Q: You have been at KLF for just over a year. What has surprised you most about working at KLF?

A: It surprised me not only how much KLF does to help others, but also how many clients will go out of their way to help each other. Offering rides, sharing food that they won't eat, helping carry food orders — for all the negativity we see, it's nice to see when people care for each other.

Humza in front of the Douglass location.

WELCOME NEW STAFF!

Meet new additions to the KLF family! LaDon Wilson joined our team as a Warehouse Assistant. In this role, LaDon will help deliver orders to pantry sites and mobile food distributions. He will also assist with unloading food deliveries and pulling pantry orders. Andra Pati is our newest Program Assistant. Andra volunteered at KLF for several months, and we knew she would be great as a full-time staff. You will find Andra helping in the Call Center, at the Caseworker Door, and in our pantries.

WITH HEARTFELT THANKS!

We are saying goodbye to several important KLF team members. Carol Cormack, Office Coordinator, is retiring at the end of March. For the past five years, Carol has helped KLF run smoothly by working with our vendors and managing the facility. So much of her work has been behind the scenes and often unrecognized, but we appreciate her beyond words. Meg Gernaat has been connected to KLF since 2015 when she joined the staff as our Marketing & Communications Coordinator. In 2017, she left that role, but continued as our contract graphic designer for four more years. Meg has recently taken another position in the community but has left a lasting mark on our organization with her designs. Leo Goddeyne and Rob Kakuk recently completed their 2nd term on our Board of Directors. We deeply appreciate their time, valuable input, and dedication to this volunteer leadership role!

Top row: new staff members LaDon Wilson and Andra Pati. Second and third row, departing team members Carol Cormack, Meg Gernaat, Leo Goddeyne and Rob Kakuk.

THANK YOU to Our Volunteers,
Donors, and Community Partners for Your Unwavering Generosity and Dedication!

FOOD EQUITY: Food Allergies and Special Diets

Eliminating barriers in how people gain access to food is a pillar of food equity. While there are many barriers to food access, securing food that meets medical and cultural needs is one barrier often overlooked or not addressed due to cost. Individuals who are gluten-free, lactose-free, or low-sodium due to medical conditions can struggle finding food assistance that supports their special dietary needs. These items tend to be more expensive or harder to find, however, are critical to one's overall health when living with certain medical conditions or allergies. When these food items cost two to four times as much, SNAP dollars don't go nearly as far for an individual or family.

"Federal programs like WIC provide only limited ability to substitute in allergy-proof foods, and school districts can be uneven in their approach to modifying school meals, with many having abandoned the effort all together during the pandemic," says Emily Brown, creator of the Food Equality Initiative (Food Bank News, Feb. 16, 2022). "Special dietary needs should not be considered an afterthought in hunger relief," continues Brown.

In addition to supporting dietary medical needs, cultural and/or religious food needs can also be challenging for charitable organizations when serving a diverse community. When serving the Muslim community, for example, it is necessary to source halal meat. Halal, a word meaning "permissible" in Arabic, requires animals to be slaughtered and processed in a certain way. Halal food can be hard to find and expensive for both Muslim families and charitable organizations.

Special dietary needs should not be considered an afterthought in hunger relief.

— Emily Brown
Creator, Food Equality Initiative

Kalamazoo Loaves & Fishes is dedicated to addressing special dietary needs as much as possible. When sorting community food donations, we set aside items that address the needs of those with medical food restrictions. Some items, such as almond milk and Ensure, are regular staples in our warehouse. We routinely source halal meat and work closely with partner agencies to identify culturally appropriate food, especially for refugee families. When scheduling pantry pickups and deliveries, clients are asked if they have any dietary restrictions or allergies. While we are often limited by inventory and cost, we try to support the food needs of families as effectively as we can.

SAVE THE DATE! SATURDAY, MAY 14TH NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF LETTER CARRIERS' FOOD DRIVE

Our biggest food drive of the year is back! After being cancelled two years in a row due to COVID-19, hard working postal carriers all over the country will be picking up food donations while dropping off mail. On average, this drive collects over 75,000 pounds of food for KLF. It's a big event that takes a lot of volunteers. Interested? Contact our Volunteer Coordinator, Ray Kuerth, at ray@kzoolf.org.
